Things to know

We certainly do NOT store your full card information.

We only store the expiry date and some bits of the card number itself (the first 6 numbers and a couple of the last).

This is standard practice and means that no one can steal and/or use the card at all.

NOTE: the $1 Verifying charge will go back into your account

Once they have all green ticks, that's a green light that the account is active and ready to go!
